The screenshot shows the "Meeting Options" window from the webex.com application running in Microsoft Internet Explorer. The window has a dark title bar with the text "webex.com - Edit Meeting Options - Microsoft Internet Explorer". Inside the window, there's a "Meeting Features" section with two rows of options: "Polling" (checked), "Chat" (checked), "Attendee Q&A" (checked), and "Annotation Tools" (unchecked). Below this is the "Client Type" section with three radio button options: "Native (full featured, one-time download)" (selected), "Java (no download, limited features)", and "Attendees can choose Native or Java". The "Repeat" section includes radio buttons for "Do not repeat", "Repeat Every Day", and "Repeat Every Week" (selected). Below the "Every Week" option is a row of seven checkboxes representing days of the week: Su, Mo, Tu, We, Th, F, Sa. All day checkboxes are currently unchecked. At the bottom, there are radio buttons for "Constant" and "Always". A small "Webex" logo is visible in the top right corner of the application area.
